Curvature of the Spine.

DR. HAMILTON,

No. 47, North Gay street, Baltimore,

HAVING turned much of his attention during a long practice to the diseases of the Spine, begs leave to tender his services for the cure or relief of that afflicting malady. The approach of this disease is easily detected by an attentive observer. It makes its appearance generally in children between the second and sixth year; a protuberance of one or more of the small bones composing the spine becomes evident, loss of appetite, irregularity of the bowels, and emaciation soon follow, together with much disinclination to walk—and unless immediate aid is obtained, death or incurable decripitude through life are the certain consequences.

Doctor Hamilton has the satisfaction of knowing that his treatment of this disease, and application of the necessary apparatus, which is simplified at the same time, that it is materially improved, have received the unqualified approbation of many of the most eminent of his medical brethren in Baltimore. Spring corsets, upon a new principle, can be applied for the use of young ladies evincing a tendency to this disease, which, while they afford the most effectual support for either side, may be worn without observation. Satisfactory references might be given to parents whose children have profited by this improved mode of treatment, did not delicacy forbid the publication: they may be easily obtained if desired, by a private interview.

Notice,

To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.

BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. RATCLIFFE,

VERY LATE FROM ENGLAND.

The fine ship Triton, capt. Holcomb, arrived here this morning, in the very short passage of 18 days from Liverpool. We are indebted to Mr. Hooper of the Exchange News Room, for London papers to the 1st April, and Liverpool to the 3d, both inclusive—more than a fortnight later than former advices.

Liverpool Corn Exchange, March 30.—The import of grain has been considerable since our last—there was a good attendance of dealers in our market, yet wheat may be quoted 3d lower.

London, March 26—About 300 casks of Carolina Rice sold this day (duty paid) for 49 a 50s. London, March 22.—Advices from Batavia to the latter end of October were received on Saturday. The market was over-run with American traders, who were purchasing coffee with great avidity, on account of the approaching duty to be laid on all articles exported in foreign vessels. The Americans pay for their cargaes only in dollars, and their speculations had advanced the price of coffee from 16 to 24 dollars the pecul, answering to about 180 lbs avoirdupois. The new duty will be two dollars the pecul.

London, March 24.—A Dutch mail arrived this morning, bringing papers to the 20th inst. An article from Brussels states that the French exiles in that city were impatiently awaiting some measure on the part of Louis XVIII. which would enable them to return to France. The recent events in that country certainly justify the very natural hope that they will be permitted to share in the clemency which has been extended to their associates. Nor is this anticipation confined to the banished rebels who are in the Netherlands. According to intelligence from Frankfort, Carnot is moving nearer to France, that he may be ready when called.

London March 30.—We understand that the Spanish Government had entered into an arrangement with one of the Representatives of the City for the supply of the ships required for the Expedition under preparations at Cadiz, and the whole number has in consequence been obtained without much difficulty, as this gentleman has given security for the payment of the whole amount of charges upon them—most of which are on the point of leaving the different ports for Spain, as instructions have been received from Madrid to hasten their departure as much as possible. According to a letter from Cadiz, of the 7th inst, it would appear, that there was a very prevalent opinion in that place, that the Expedition could not possibly sail before the begining of June.

Most of these vessels hired at Bordeaux and other ports in France, for the same purpose as those chartered in London, are not, as has been generally supposed, French ships, but nearly all of them are British, trading with the Mediterranean.

Liverpool, April 2.

The expedition preparing at Cadiz is carrying on in all its details with an unusual degree of vigor. The naval force will consist of 4 sail of the line, 6 frigates, 12 brigs and schooners, and 26 gun-boats. All these are at present in the harbor of Cadiz, and in a state of complete equipment. The transports will enable Spain to embark a military force little short of 20,000 men. The greater part of the troops are already encamped in the neighborhood of Cadiz, and are said to be in a state of high order and discipline. Great surprise exists among those who know the dilapidated resources of Spain, concerning the quarter whence money has been furnished to meet the charges of the expedition. That money has been liberally supplied is certain, from the concurring testimony of all those who have been concerned in the contracts relating to it. Contributions, not strictly voluntary, have, it is said, been afforded by Spanish subjects—but these cannot have been very extensive. Spain has also received assistance from France to the amount of 1,500,000 livres, either in liquidation of some former claims or as a loan—and a bull has been obtained from the Pope, for appropriating one-tenth part of the produce of ecclesiastical benefices. All accounts agree in stating that the expedition will be directed against Buenos Ayres.

Three projects of law, relative to the liberty of the press, have been communicated to the French chamber of deputies, by the ministers. Should they meet the approbation of the legislature, the press will undoubtedly obtain a considerable share of freedom. The previous censorship will be removed, and the offences charged against writers will be determined by a jury.

The examinations before the secret committee of the house of commons, for enquiry into the state of the bank, terminated yesterday sen'nith. The importance of the subject, and the extent of the evidence, will, of course, require much time and deliberation before the report can be presented. In the house of lords' committee, the examinations are not yet concluded.

The accounts from Ceylon are of a favorable nature. Two of the rebel leaders have been taken, and a third was shortly expected to surrender. The following are the particulars :—Lieut. O'Neil collected his detachment, crossed the puddy field silently, and surrounded a house near at hand, in which were actually assembled all the great rebels and their followers.—The latter escaped, leaving twenty stand of good arms, a quantity of ammunition, and a bag of sulphur. On lieut. O'Neil's entering the house, Keppetapola, seized him by the hand, and announced his name twice, 'Keppetapola! Keppetapola!' Pelme Telawe lay stretched on a couch, lame, and ill of disease ; Madugalle, who was in the room, and others whose names were given by Keppetapola, fled ; but captain Fraser, on joining lieut. O'Neil the next morning, made the latter write to Madugalle, and he was expected to return.

France, Nismes, March 8.—The public tranquility has been troubled in this town During several days past considerable agitation was evident ; this was attributed to the proposition to modify the law of election. Yesterday (Sunday the 7th inst.) a numerous assemblage was formed in front of the theatre ; vociferations and menacing language was heard. The authorities endeavoured to disperse the populace ; but their efforts, during a long time, were ineffectual. The patroles sent to restore order, were insulted and assailed with showers of stones. Various provocations took place in different quarters of the town ; happily no person has been grievously wounded. Very strict search is making to discover the author of this tumult.

March 9.—Lieutenant General de Briche commanding the military division, is arrived with 500 military. Tranquility is entirely re-established.

Paris, March 21.—The minister of war has given orders to organize the material of the fortress towns, which had been dismantled in consequence of their occupation by the allies—360 pieces of cannon of different calibres, have been dispatched from the arsenal of La Rochelle to the frontier fortresses of the departments of the north—above 500 condemned pieces of ordnance have been sent to the founde-dery of Strasbourg to be recast.

The reception of the Persian Ambassador had not taken place yesterday. It is asserted, that difficulties, arising from the difference of the eastern ceremonies with ours, has occasioned its postponement.

A person who left Cadiz on the 18th ult. and who is now in Paris, has communicated the following details relative to the expedition about to be dispatched to Buenos Ayres :—

The number of troops is about 13,000, including infantry and cavalry, and already occupy their cantonments in the neighborhood of that port. Count d'Abisbal, (O'Donnell) who commands in chief, and who is appointed Vice Roy of Buenos Ayres, assembled in Cadiz 15,000 on the 28th Jan. last, the day appointed to celebrate the interment of her majesty the late queen. He reviewed them in the place St Antoine, in the presence of a considerable body of spectators, which increased the splendor of the ceremony, and who all admired the fine equipment and steady discipline of the troops.

All the generals who are attached to the expedition are at this momeet assembled in Cadiz. General O'Donnel is incessently occupied in enforcing every precaution necessary to accelerate its departure; called to such an important destiny, and which will, without doubt, be the finest that ever left the ports of Spain. The troops are animated with the best spirit, and every thing excites the most pleasing hopes. [Journal des Debates.

A private letter from Manheim, dated the 23d inst. announces that M. de Kotzbue was assassinated on that day by a student, and that the latter immediately committed suicide with the same poignard which had been the instrument of his crime. Both instantly expired on the spot. [Journal de Paris.

London, March 18.—By advices from Surinam, of the 18th of Jan. received in the city, we learn that the government of that colony has published an ordinance of his Belegian majesty, prohibiting the slave trade under the severest penalties, but permitting the transit of slaves from a Dutch or foreign colony to another Dutch colony in the W. Indies.

Frankfort, March 2.—The course of events in France causes much uneasiness here—combustable matter is evidently amassing, and the smallest spark threatens an explosion. The few Exiles still here (Despotes, Pelletier, Garreau, &c.) are more active than ever. "In France," said a wit lately, "they are playing at Pair ou non."

ALEXANDRIA:

FRIDAY, APRIL 30, 1819.

There have been men eminent for both piety and erudition, who have avowed their opinion against introducing the sacred writings, as a necessary part of our earliest education : and their objections amounted to this, that the puerile mind was either too inattentive to perceive the importance of the precepts contained in the Old or New Testament, or too weak to break thro' the obscurity of some passages uttered under the influence of prophetic inspiration. And therefore, that when advanced to a maturer age and bolder force of discerning, they may be disposed to think highly of such expressions as they must remember had been difficult to understand. At a period then when criticism employs the pens of so many writers, it would be well if some of them would take the trouble to point out the beauties and sublimity of those authors, the study of whose works is connected with our present and future preservation. It would seem as if the pages of the bible were read and explained rather for controversial purposes, than for conveying those easy and simple instructions which a diligent perusal of them is sure to inculcate. How deplorable is it, that that volume which comprehends every excellence, superior to all the writings of other nations and languages, should be neglected by any one, and serve only as a subject for the raillery of perverted wit, the wicked quibbles of the vain and satirical, or the endless solemn altercations of the serious and grave.

Let it then be considered whether a taste for comparing critically the several passages of scripture may not produce a greater desire and tendency towards the promotion of religion, than the strongest and most subtle arguments which have been invented or advanced in favor of it. Such a taste must be acquired by a little studious application; and who can pretend to any degree of discernment in literature, that remains ignorant of the perfection of these writings, so capable of amusing the mind and improving the judgment. There is no author, ancient or modern, can teach us truer lessons of morality ; no historian can relate more entertaining or more interesting facts ; no species of poetry is wanting to delight and elevate the imagination. It contains all the beauties of epic, tragic, lyric, elegiac and pastoral composition ; the fancy cherished and inspired by such divine dignity of sentiments, must be led by a firm persuasion of these truths, which they were designed to establish : and may not such persuasion be found more satisfactory and permanent than the slow and laborious conviction of a studied train of demonstrative proofs, which few have capacities able to compare, or perseverance sufficient to continue to a conclusion. What power of argument can make so forcible and lasting an impression on the mind as the following passage ? "I know that my redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth ; and though after my death, worms shall destroy this body ; yet in my flesh shall I see God."—Job, 19th chap. 25th and 26th verses. Such is the eternal prevalence of truth, that two verses penned by the dictates of inspiration, operate more decisively on the heart, than the voluminous labors of human sagacity. This preference given to the powers of the imagination over those of the reasoning faculty may not appear erroneous, if we reflect that conviction is difficult to be obtained except by persuasion, and that it is often necessary to address and engage the imagination before we attempt to convert or subdue the understanding ; and until philosophy is more generally diffused through all ranks of the community, persuasion will be proved more effectual in religious subjects, than the nicer subtelties of argumentation. Persuasion may be called an imperceptible conviction, and is sometimes successful of itself, without any further instigation. There is, besides, an obstinacy in the human mind repugnant to conviction ; the ignorant are prevented by inability to perceive the force, or to preserve the arrangement of another's arguments ; and the skilful are frequently too fond of their own tenets, to change them for those of their opponents ; we may indeed be induced to reject the opinion of one person, and to adopt that of another ; but is there any possibility of reasoning us out of our own feelings ? Let any one read the account of Christ's crucifixion, as it is most pathetically and circumstantially related, near the conclusion of St. Matthew's gospel : will he not, with the astonished Centurion, exclaim—"truly this was the son of God," and rest better satisfied with the reality, than if he had heard or industriously studied the most elaborate oration to prove the certainty of that event, or the divine nature of the sufferer.

The irresistable effect of such strong and important expressions may justify the assertion, that a critical examination of the holy scriptures will conduce as much to the confirmation of our faith and the regulation of our moral conduct, as any other purpose for which we can employ ourselves in the study of them. We are enamored of the beautiful simplicity and unornamented grandeur displayed and multiplied in every verse as we advance ; and our ideas, enlivened and enlarged by the superior spirit that breathes in every word and sentence, are exalted by an imitative inspiration—and seem to converse with invisible preceptors, endowed with wisdom that surpasses whatsoever perfections we attribute to human genius, until our wonder is lost in adoration. What was the reply of king Agrippa to the conclusion of Saint Paul's speech, which contained the alarming recital of his own miraculous conversion ?—"Almost thou persuadest me to be a christian !" If a single instance of divine eloquence could create such a sudden alteration in an unbelieving mind, surely every serious and diligent reader, who has received an early tincture of religion, must yield to the strong impressions which the obvious harmony and gentle dignity of the holy writers are so well qualified to communicate.

Norfolk, March 26.

On Saturday morning last while the ship Tobacco Plant was at anchor a little way below City point, it was discovered by those on board, that a gentleman from Richmond, by the name of Leslie, who had taken passage in her for Liverpool, had disappeared during the preceding night. His clothes which he had put off on retiring to his birth remained as he had placed them the over night, from which circumstance, and something of a mental derangement which he labored under at times, it is supposed that he threw himself overboard and was drowned. [Herald.

During the passage of the Jane Maria, capt. Van Name, from New-York to this place, a poor man of the name of Davenport, a resident of this town, who was working his passage home in her, fell overboard, and (every attempt to rescue him proving fruitless) was drowned. He has left a wife and four children, and it was a truly painful scene to those who were present when the vessel hauled in to see his little ones, who apprised of his coming on in this vessel, had found their way to the wharf, and were anxiously waiting to see their father come ashore, when the dreadful tidings of his fate overwhelmed them with grief and distraction. [Ibid.

By the schr. Farmer's Friend, Captain Simmes, who put into Hampton Roads yesterday for a harbor, in 6 days from Bermuda, bound to George Town, D. From the Eastern Argus.

Mr. Douglas: You will oblige two of the most important classes of the community, farmers and fishermen, by informing farmers that fish are excellent food for sheep.

It is a fact, though not generally known, that sheep will greedily eat any kind of salted fish whether dry or pickled, although dry seem the most suitable for them; and it is found by experience that sheep that have as much fish as they can eat, are always healthy, have good lambs, and do not lose their wool; and require much less hay or other food. It is not expected that farmers remote from the sea shore can afford their sheep as much fish as they would eat; but, if they give them fish instead of giving salt, they will find a great advantage.—Smoaked Alewives and Herrings are the most convenient for them; larger fish should be cut, or broken in small pieces. The cheaper kinds of fish, such as scale of all kinds, broken, refuse, and even those that are partly damaged, if they are only salt, will answer the purpose.

It isgenerally the case with herring catchers, that they are obliged to cull out and throw away great numbers sometimes half they take, because they are too small to bear inspection; such might be salted, and smoaked, or dried in the sun, put up in dry casks, and afforded at a low price—by which means, thousands of barrels would be saved which are now suffered to rot on the shores.

It is hoped that editors of Newspapers and Almanacs will publish the above hints, and that farmers will try the experiment, by which they will benefit themselves, encourage agriculture and the fishermen.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria —it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensels and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirious of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or
